

Carolyn DeLucia, MD, FACOG

Dr. DeLucia is a board-certified obstetrician and gynecologist and has been a fellow of the American College of OB/GYN since 1995. She is a luminary in the field of sexual health and noninvasive sexual wellness treatments. She expanded her practice into aesthetics, specializing in rejuvenation and anti-aging noninvasive procedures. She also has extensive experience in full body and facial rejuvenation treatments. She genuinely cares about her patients, developing a sincere relationship with them as she helps to optimize their quality of health and a longer and more fulfilled life.

Education and Training

For her undergraduate studies, Dr. DeLucia attended Rutgers College in New Jersey where she graduated with honors and Phi Beta Kappa status. She then graduated from medical school at New York Medical College. She finished her internship and residency at Long Island Jewish Medical Center in New York. Dr. DeLucia has lectured all over the United States and globally, including Spain, India, Monaco, United Arab Emirates, and Qatar, representing the following societies as a faculty member:

- Cellular Medicine Association
- American Aesthetic Association
- International Society of Regenerative Medicine
- Intimate Wellness Institute

Skills and Specialties

Dr. DeLucia has been a practicing OB/GYN for nearly 30 years. She evolved her OB/GYN practice to include aesthetic services and sexual wellness. She is a leading expert in female sexual health and regenerative vaginal medicine. FemiLift and the O-Shot® are a few of the tools she uses to help the vagina return to normal health and function. Her practice also focuses on performing noninvasive procedures that soften the evidence of aging.

One of the most in-demand specialists in her field, Dr. DeLucia is the author of two best-selling books, Ultimate Intimacy: The Revolutionary Science of Female Sexual Health and Ultimate Connection: The Blueprint to Everlasting Love Inside Yourself. She also contributed a chapter on female intimate health for Tony Robbins's newest book, Life Force: How New Breakthroughs in Precision Medicine Can Transform the Quality of Your Life & Those You Love. She is invited to lecture at conferences all over the world and has trained thousands of practitioners of all specialties on cutting-edge treatments.